Credits: A special reward gained from obtaining certain materials for the first time, or getting advancements.
Upon finding the Event hall structure, you can trade in Credits for special tools and/or resources (potentially unique to the Hall), as well as finding
Events that give you Credits (tasks like mining materials or running a certain distance)
Maybe you can also buy enchanted books from there too, for a more expensive fee.
Credits are pretty useless outside of that, and there's a permanent counter at the top of your screen that shows how many Credits you have (See the image)
That's all I got atm

FINAL BOSS-FIGHT DETAILS! (Cooked up by Solar.)

(Summarized)

Basically, the entire Minecraft Engine will freeze it's usual operation and go to the Undertale Flowey Battle Screen. There it will be Flowey at first, but then the brainrot will take over the rendering of Flowey, ultimately leading to the player's items being used for AT / DF. So the player has to Dodge the bullets to defend their Minecraft session.

Event Hall Extensions (Cooked up by Solar.)

There could be an underground factory type of place under the event hall, as the GT4 brainrot style of the place is a mask for what's truly going on underneath the processing of these Credits and other items to create powerful sets of tools and items to fight against brainrot or maybe Credits are like the "secret underground currency" that's traded throughout the lands an association, a rebel group that just wants life to go back to normal, how it was, and always has been as brainrot spread and grew, those that succumb to its infection become insufferable, and sometimes incredibly violent due to the nature of certain jokes and memeş.

1. like there could be separate event halls all across that take the form of the several different event halls in GT4 Professional, Beginner, Japanese, Endurance, European, Special Conditions, Driving Missions, American, and Extreme halls

2. RAAAHHHH

1. the mod's name could tie into the lore as well
2. as the mod is the way the parasite spreads itself
3. but it doesn't realize the

1. but yeah the rebels want to fabricate an "ultimate" weapon that can actually cleanse infection as the world progresses, maybe something like Hollow Knight's infection could start showing up
2. like bubbles of brainrot, maybe entities similar to the Rot from Rainworld

Last Idea...

1. i just pictured a scene where you walk into the factory and the guys in there see you wearing Sigma armor and they're like "AHHH HOW'D IT FIND US" "KILL IT KILL ITTTT" and they start throwing stuff at you, only to realize 30 seconds later that you're kinda just standing there, looking around

2. and they realize that you're like a god from a prophecy that doesn't exist fr

3. there was no prophecy to say you'd arrive, it just happened

4. an unprophecized god

5. a savior without purpose

To all people who have given me ideas, especially you, SOLAR:

Thanks a lot.

You guys really outnumbered yourself with this one. This mod was supposed to be a small mod just for jokes, but it became something much more. An actual campaign, an actual story.

I hope whoever plays this mod, enjoys it.

Because, the amount of creativity,

Involved,

Is

Endless.
